Alma Mater

High above Monongah's waters
Stands the dear old school.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, O Hail, to thee.
Red and White, Red and White
Flying high above,
Colors that we love.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, O Hail, to thee.

Memories

The memories of the helpful guidance of the administration, the friendly companionship of the underclassmen, and the many varied activities will leave their mark on every senior in the Class of 1956. This book will serve as an hourglass for that class. The turning of each page will be the dropping of another grain of sand, the forming of another memory—a MEMORY that will last through the years and survive the passage of all TIME.

TO TIME AND MEMORIES

The first purpose of a book so dedicated as this is to cause you to remember the things which ought to be remembered: a teacher's glowing love of learning, an adviser's kindly understanding, a coach's quiet manliness, a counselor's deep reservoir of patience, a director's unending hunger for perfection, a scientist's unslaked thirst for truth founded on fact, a principal's calm wisdom. In your school days, you saw these virtues clothed with people. When with this book you "summon up remembrance of things past," let their memory flow through and enrich your life.

Graduates

Monongahela High School has long gloried in its past. The names on the old class rolls, the former teachers, and the distinguished services of its graduates have caused pride to swell in the heart of every boy and girl in school.

The high school experiences which lie between the covers of this book is an attempt of the class of 1956 to enhance and preserve this past. With high ability the editors have brought out those class experiences which are permanently valuable and which must not be forgotten.

To the graduating class of 1956, to whom this book is a farewell greeting, I wish to express my sincere best wishes for success and happiness in your future life.

John P. Conte

A guidance program is set up as a special agency to take care of the varied needs and special talents of the students in Monongahela High School.

The guidance personnel assists pupils in making choices and adjustments at important crossroads in their lives. They also give guidance to the students that they may solve their own problems and discover methods of self analysis and improvement.

Some source material used to assist achieving the above aims are mental aptitude tests and interest inventory tests. Personal counseling and conferences are provided along with homeroom programs, classroom and club projects, and many other activities.

The guidance office exists for the purpose of helping the pupils in every way possible.

Its services guide him in his choice of course of studies as determined by the results of tests indicating his abilities and preferences in types of work. His counselors are available for discussion and help on any problem that may arise during his school years. A complete record of his scholastic attainments, special abilities, characteristics, and activities is kept in the office files so that recommendation may be made as requested in future years.

Information may be obtained from this office concerning the requirements of different colleges, scholarships available, and requirements for positions in business and industry that may be open to the high school graduate.

The same guidance counselor works with a class from the freshman through the senior years, so that he becomes well acquainted with the individual class member and his problems and is well able to give him the help and advice he needs.

IT LOOKS SO BIG

Memories of School Life

Every person collects many memories on his journey through the pages of Time. As graduating seniors we are now closing a chapter on some of the most wonderful memories we are ever to acquire. We entered the doors of Monongahela High School with great apprehension and expectation. Through the past four years we have learned that upper classmen don't know so very much after all and that teachers are people who can become invaluable friends. We have overcome our anxieties and met our problems with a will to succeed. We have thrilled to triumph and tasted the feeling of defeat.

We shall never forget the excitement surrounding the freshmen party and how we didn't know whether we should really wear socks to the first soc hop. We struggled through Caesar and the Gallic wars and nervously explained geometry theorems. We attended the dedication of the Junior High School and ate lunch in the new cafeteria.

As juniors we worked diligently as salesmen during Prom Candy Week. How thrilled we were to receive our class rings. The time spent in making roses and the late hours of decorating the gym were well rewarded when everyone viewed the magnificent outdoor garden of Moonlight and Roses at that memorable Junior-Senior Prom.

I do solemnly promise

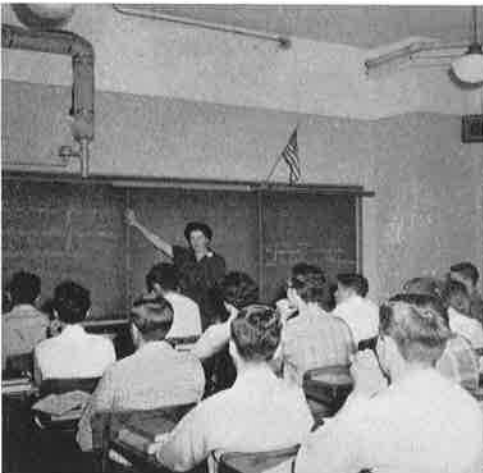

At last it's 3:15.

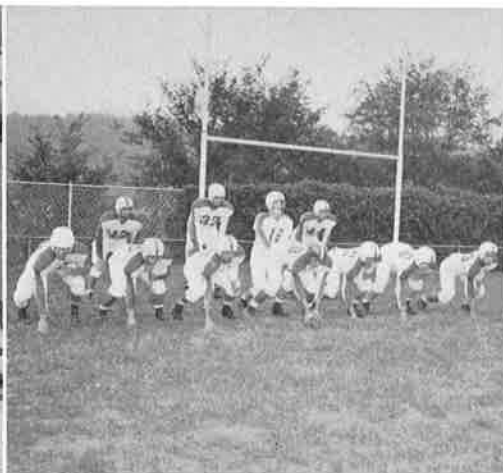

Moonlight and Roses

Comprenez-vous?

Fight, Team, Fight

Parents are kids again.

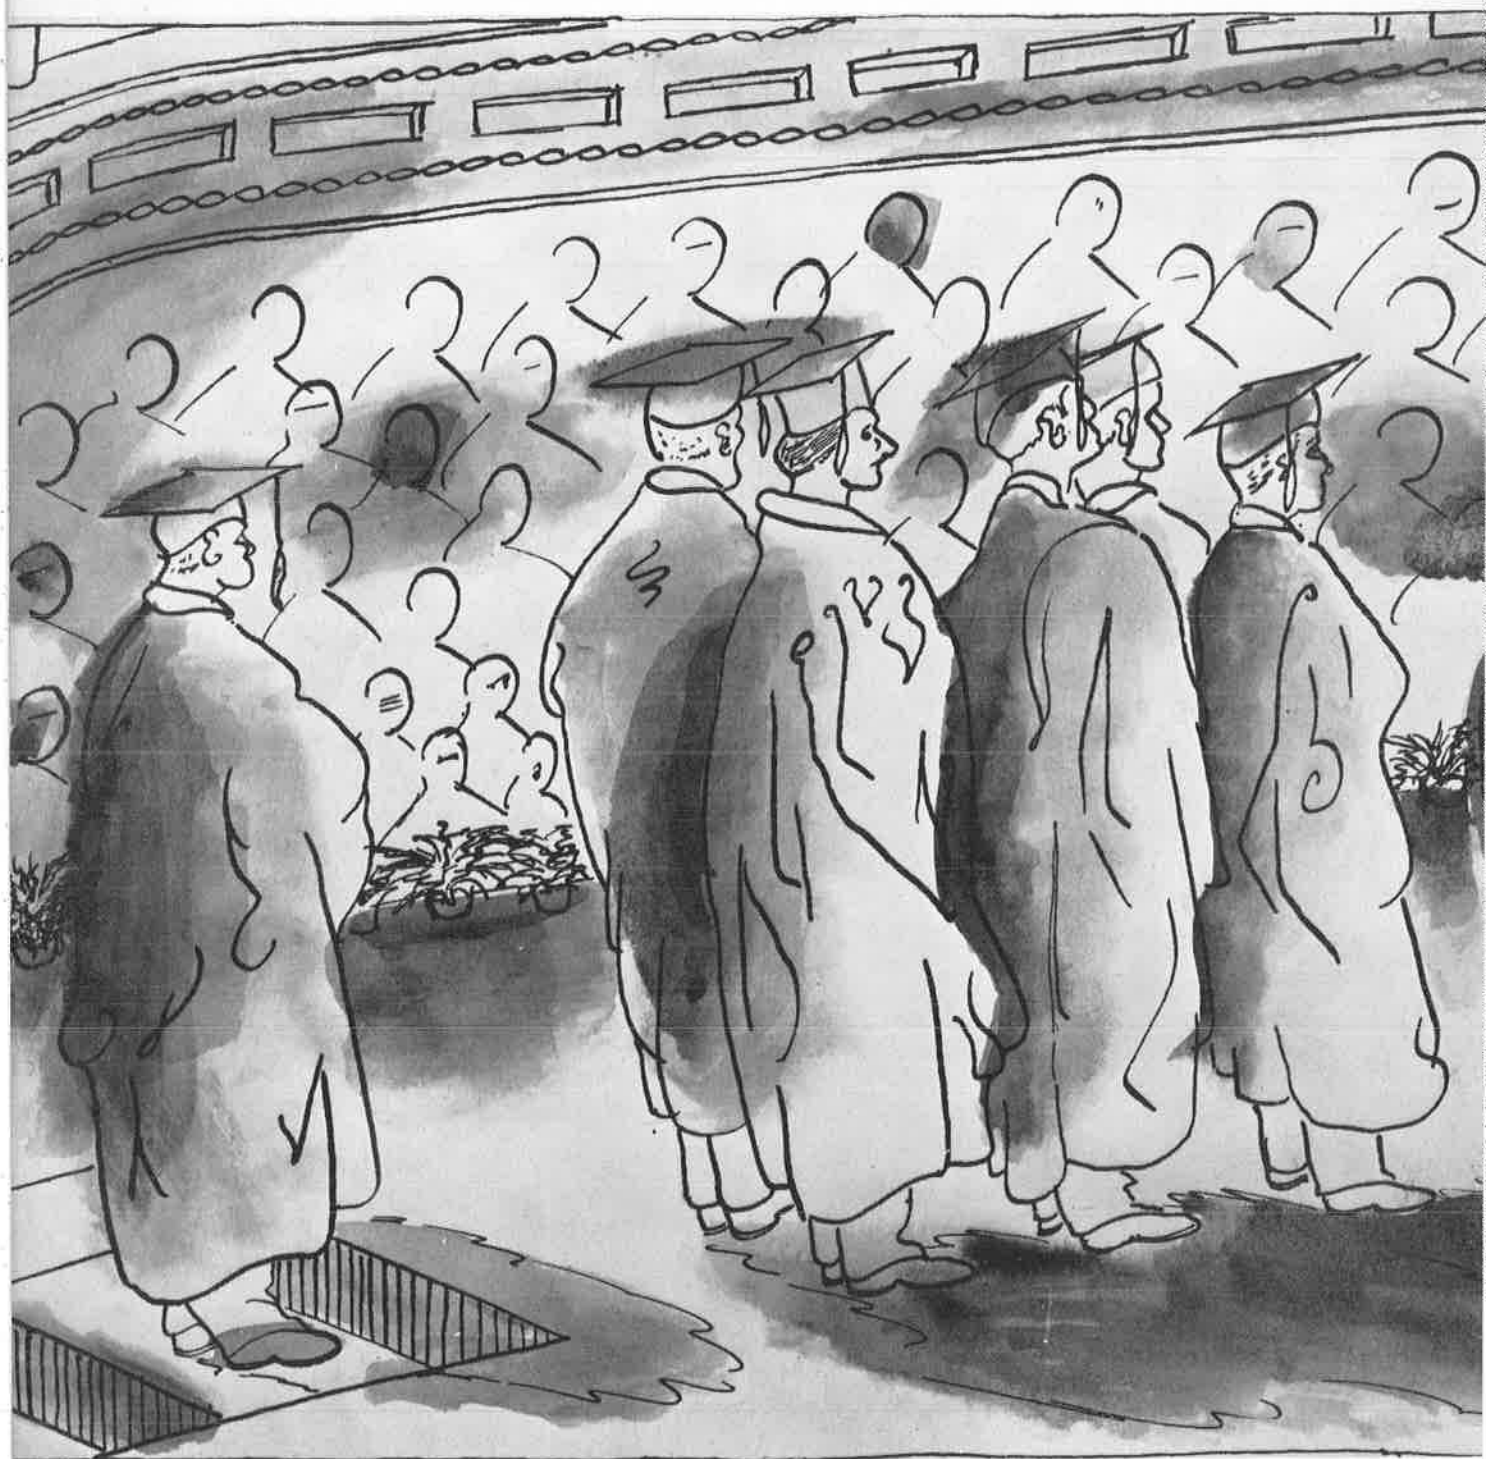

We all have shared the cramming for tests, the dread of receiving report cards, and the trips to the principal's office for many different reasons. We students have watched the finished product of the precision rehearsals for the musical concerts and sensed the tense nervousness in the air before the curtain went up on an assembly or school play. We have felt, with the members of the band, the overwhelming emotion when the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" cut the air on a cold autumn night. We have shared the bruise of each player on the athletic field and have responded to the cheerleaders' rousing yells. We have kept the lights burning late at our Alma Mater as we worked on various projects.

As seniors we went to the polls to choose our class officers, ordered namecards, pictures, and announcements. As the senior play ended we realized that our time on this hill "High above Monongah's waters" was nearly over. We have made many friendships—some may end soon after graduation, but others will remain to be cherished through the years. We realized also how much had been done for us—by the teachers and our fellow classmates. We attended Baccalaureate; and on Class Night we watched our students perform on the high school stage for the last time. Finally as it neared time to receive our diplomas, we knew there would never be another feeling like the one shared as we sang our "Alma Mater" for the last time.

MEMORABLE YEARS

Seniors

At last the coveted goal of Senior is reached. As the graduate receives his diploma he views his past four years. They have been years of fun, learning, and youth. He has seen his triumphs applauded and his failures overcome. He has been able to go forward because of the keen understanding of his teachers and the strength of the friendship he has made. Prepared with the wisdom gained through these high school years, he commences to build a rich, full life—a life he will be proud to inscribe on the pages of time.

The seniors recall the time when they were underclassmen, looking forward to the day when they would complete their courses at M.H.S. They remember the moving of their seats in assembly from the balcony to the junior section at the back of the auditorium. Thoughts of cutting up frogs in biology, learning French sounds, and mastering the hieroglyphics of shorthand come to their minds as they recall their years as underclassmen. They will think of the wonderful times they have had at the sock hops and other dances, planning for the prom, and participating in club activities. All these things will give them happy memories of their high school days in the years to come.

Activities

M.H.S. graduates will never forget the many activities of their high school years. At first a little timid, they soon became eager to join the various clubs, music groups, service, sports, and dramatic organizations. Perhaps they were members of the cast of the all-school play or the senior play or joined the publications staff. They may have served on the hall patrol, the projector committee, as hall messengers, or perhaps were members of the student council. All of these activities are now for them part of the precious high school memories.

Publications

The publications staff is composed of members of the Flame and Red and White Review who work together in journalism class to publish the yearbook and newspaper.

The Flame, M.H.S. yearbook, is the older publication. The aim of the staff is to produce a book within the budget of the average student and at the same time to have an interesting record in pictures of every class, club, and activity of the school.

The Red and White Review is the high school newspaper published once a month during the school year.

While staff members are responsible for planning and publishing the paper, its columns are open to anyone who wishes to write an article of interest. The purpose of the newspaper is to make a record of important happenings within the school and to make reports on achievements of class groups, clubs, teams, and individuals as well as to promote worthy activities and to give support to high ideals.

Successful staff members are eligible to membership in Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. Monongahela has had an active chapter in this organization since December, 1952.

The senior play, presented on March 8 and 9, was the comedy-fantasy, "Green Valley." The setting was in a California valley where sunflowers were bigger than houses, beans sprouted before eyes of the audience and Minnie, the cow, gave magical milk which enabled the characters to see long-dead ancestors. The language of the valley folk, the clever antics of the risen ancestors, and the unusual stage setting delighted the audience.

The capable stage crew spent over 500 long hours outside of school constructing the unique stage settings used for the school plays, and they managed all the assemblies and concert work.

Pink String and Sealing Wax

The all-class play, Pink String and Sealing Wax, was presented on November 17 to an appreciative audience. The play, a delightful mystery set in the 1890's in the charming Victorian living room of the Strachen family, centered around the domineering father who struck terror in the hearts of his children by not allowing them to plan their own lives. However, the children, Albert, Emily, Jessie, and mischievous little Eva found a friend in their understanding mother. Dr. O'Shea and Ernest Devon were family friends and Pearl Bond, a former servant, caused much distress to the family.

Band

The hard-working band of Monongahela High School is the representative of the school at football games, parades, and other events. To participate in any of these, hours of practice is necessary. Every performance is a reflection on the school and the students in it. The musicians of the band use their time and effort to make their band the best.

The past football season proved that the long hours of practice were not spent in vain. Some of the popular routines used were the "Modern Jazz", and the "George M. Cohen" shows, with the majorettes doing rhythmic routines while the band provided the background.

The band has appeared in the Hallowe'en Parade, the Memorial Day Parade, and the Veterans' Day Parade in which they were first-prize winners. Another important performance was the "High School Band Day" at Pitt Stadium. It was a great honor to be one of the 29 bands out of 100 selected to perform. Some of the members are participating in the Forensic Contests and District Band Festivals.

The closing and most colorful event of the season was the annual spring concert. This performance was important because it gave the public an opportunity to enjoy the fine work done by the students under the direction of Mr. Watkinson.

Language Clubs

The language clubs of Monongahela High School, consisting of the Latin I and II, Spanish, French, and English clubs, study the culture of the country whose language they study. These popular clubs sponsor various functions for the better understanding of the language. All the language clubs are made up of students who desire to learn more about the customs and ways of life of these various countries. The students acquire additional knowledge through the trips they make and through foreign correspondence and special club programs. By these methods, their interest in the language is greatly increased.

Service Clubs

The service clubs of Monongahela High School are a vital part of the school. Without them many important activities would not continue to function.

The Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y exemplify high ideals and charitable service. The Usherettes take charge of seating arrangements at all performances in the auditorium. The stage crew constructs all scenery for plays, the projector committee has been trained to show motion pictures, and the hall patrol is in charge of traffic through the halls during the lunch periods. Members of the Home Economics Club serve at school dinners and teas. Library Club members and girls belonging to the Student Service Center use several study halls a week for the purpose of helping other students. Although not organized as a club, the girls who act as hall messengers and those who prepare the daily bulletins have performed a most valuable service for the school.

SERVICE CENTER

The student service center was organized by the Student Council in 1954 and has proved very valuable to the student body. It is open every day with two girls in attendance each period. The service center handles supplies of all sorts needed by pupils and also manages the lost and found department.

Fred Neill '56

The graduating class will always remember the athletic competitions—the cheering crowds, the home run blasted out of the park, the player plunging through the line for the final tally, the winning two points of a basketball game, the expressions on the players' faces after a decisive victory. Then, there will be the memories of the first Big-Six victory since the season of 1950 over Donora, the tie with Monessen, and the successful seasons of the soccer team. The memory of school spirit shown at all the games—baseball, football, basketball, and soccer will leave an indelible impression on the Class of 1956.

SOCCER

The Monongahela High School soccer team, now in its third year of competition, has had great success. Thus far, they have advanced to a runner-up position in ROUND ROBIN TOURNAMENTS and held two second place positions in league standing. The boys, beginning their careers with very little experience, have developed themselves into one of the most respected soccer squads in league competition.

In the 1954-1955 class there were four regulars leaving the team. They were A. Massari, L. Matuga, E. Truffa, and C. Pasini. The remainder of the squad returned to practice for what may be their best year thus far.

PRE-SOCCER SEASON PRACTICE

Catching Flies

The 1954-55 baseball squad was a young, but experienced team. Most of the players had gained experience with the various recreational baseball teams throughout the city. The squad finished the season with an impressive record, showing eight wins with only three defeats. They also placed second for the section championship.

The squad was composed of five players from the Pony League World Series Championship team, the remainders from various teams throughout the city. The future of the team looks bright. Everyone is looking forward to many successful baseball seasons.

When Monongahela High School's football hopefuls reported for their first practice on August 18, the size of the squad, combined with the fact that the school had hired a new coaching staff the previous year, offered little hope for the future games to be played. In spite of these handicaps, the Cats organized themselves into a team that was not regarded lightly by any of its opponents. The season, although showing a 2-1-6 record, was successful in that the 'Cats registered their first Big Six win since the 1950 season over Donora and earned a tie with another conference rival, Monessen.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The 1955-56 varsity basketball team was composed of inexperienced boys, only one of whom was a letterman from last year. Mr. Cree with a lot of hard practice developed these boys into a fine team in spite of their inexperience. The Cats, underdogs in most of their games, displayed fighting spirit in losing by only a few points to some of the top opposing teams. The team was honored when one boy was selected for second team and one for honorable mention for the Big Seven All Star Teams. The Cats' record isn't most impressive, but M.H.S. is proud of its athletes, win, lose or draw.

Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders are a group of girls chosen by the student body to represent M.H.S. at all the athletic competitions. In their colorful red and white outfits, with their well practiced cheers and novel ideas, they are fine representatives of the school as their rousing cheers lead the teams on to victory.

The girls spent long hours during the summer and much time after school in practice to have the cheerleading squad at the perfection they desired.

In assemblies as Davy Crocketts and spacemen, they presented unusual skits showing the Wildcats as victors over the opposing teams. For a serious note, the final pep assembly had as its theme "Our Alma Mater", and an appreciation was shown to the senior cheerleaders.

One of our keenest high school memories will be of those Friday assemblies when the cheerleaders led the student body with cheers of "Fight, Team, Fight".

Girls' Athletics

Under the sponsorship of the G.A.L. (Girls' Athletic Leaders) the gymnasium is reserved for two hours every Thursday evening for games and athletic events of various types. Any high school girl who is interested in sports may attend.

Other athletic activities for girls are basketball and volleyball as well as various athletic games played in the gym classes.

The girls had a champion volleyball team this year, having played Monessen, Charleroi, and Donora, as well as faculty members of M.H.S.

For the last three years the G.A.L. has been sponsoring a basketball team. The girls play other district schools. These games are a means of getting acquainted with girls from other schools, learning their interests, and also their activities.

Pingpong, badminton, and shuffleboard are offered to girls who like to play exciting, but not too strenuous games. These games are played in gym classes as well as on Thursdays during Recreation Evening.

Mushball is enjoyed by the girls in the spring. Even though there is no organized team, the girls enjoy playing against each other.

By taking part in these different activities the girls can obtain rating points for G.A.L. From these points they can receive emblems. The highest honor is to receive a trophy for earning points.
